

Treasury Department,

BUREAU OF THE MINT,

Washington, D. C.,

March 17

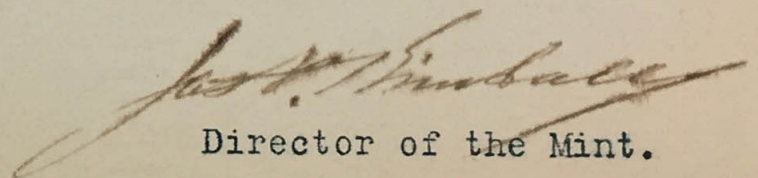

1887

Sir:

I shall be pleased if Mr. Cobb will prepare a statement, to be transmitted by you, of the facts which he once related as to the uses to which gold dollars are put, especially the course of this coin in exportation to Eastern countries. I would like to know the authorities for the statements, especially as to the subversive use of this coin.

This inquiry is important in considering the question of an increased coinage of the gold dollar at the demand of citizens claiming the right to procure this coin without stint.

Very respectfully,

Director of the Mint.

Hon. Daniel M. Fox,

Superintendent U.S. Mint,

Philadelphia.

NARA RG104, Entry 1, Box 144

Treasury Department,
Bureau of the Mint,
Washington, D.C.,
March 17, 1887

Sir:

I shall be pleased if Mr. Cobb will prepare a statement, to be transmitted by you, of the facts which he once related as to the uses to which gold dollars are put, especially the course of this coin in exportation to Eastern countries. I would like to know the authorities for the statements, especially as to the subversive use of this coin.

This inquiry is important in considering the question of an increased coinage of the gold dollar at the demand of citizens claiming the right to procure this coin without stint.

Very respectfully,
James P. Kimball
Director of the Mint.

Hon. Daniel M. Fox,
Superintendent U.S. Mint,
Philadelphia.